Continuation of 5. does NOT place the application in condition for allowance because: Applicant argues Kaneko (US 6,035,137) fails to disclose the braking characteristic feature of the claimed invention. Specificially applicant argues the braking can be changed before a wide angle end or teleophoto end. However, this limitation is not found in either independent claim. Further, Kaneko teaches an lens attachment with motor and storage mean and switch input device for changing the zooming rate(see col. 2, lines 31-52;col. 5, lines 20-39 and col. 6, lines 8-26) according to a signal received by the switches. Thus, Kaneko discloses the presently claimed invention. Lastly, applicant is asking the Examiner to support the official notice arguments that cameras have displays which show exposure information and other camera information. The Examiner request the applicant to review a patent document of record in the case, for example Nakajima et al (US 4,931,823) that shows a camera unit with display of camera information.
